C-Murder

CD: Life or Death

Label: No Limit Records

Parental Advisory: Explicit Content

"Started off as a street thug ... I wish my brother wouldn'ta got killed for me to realize the game was wicked ..." C-Murder opens in his solo CD "Life or Death" -- although "solo" is a relative word here. Crossover in the hip-hop world is at an all-time high, and honestly, it's hard to pick C-Murder's voice from amongst all the other No Limit plays -- including his brothers Master P and Silkk "The Shocker" -- who show up in 19 out of the CD's 23 songs.

The tracks switch between normal street-thug boasting ("Soldiers," "Duck & Run") and C-Murder's reflections about the violent life ("Watch Yo Enemies," "Feel My Pain"). The title track, "Life or Death," stands out the most, mixing background vocals from soul singer Peaches with C-Murder's heartfelt warnings (his brother Kevin was killed by a junkie in New Orleans): "I know you faced with life and death every day/but overlook the evil thoughts/cuz there's gotta be a better way."
